Subject: Emergency GPTX SEC notice on lawsuit and temporary restraining order!

Date: Thu, Jun 10, 2010 4:06 pm

Dear SEC:

The Green Party of Texas is being sued by the Democratic Party of Texas. They claim that the receipt of signatures from Take Initiative America is illegal. I was promised by a representative of Take Initiative America that the organization was not a corporation and that he would comply with all disclosure requests. Today I was informed that the organization is in fact, a corporation and they will not disclose their donors. They claim that their collection of signatures and in-kind contribution was not political. I don't agree. In my opinion, We have no choice but to refuse the signatures. We are seeking the services of a qualified election attorney to continue this process.

I am signing a temporary restraining order with the Democratic Party of Texas that we will not certify any Nominees of the Green Party of Texas until the Court conducts an evidentiary hearing on a Motion for Temporary injunction is complete within 14 days. I am hoping that we can work with the Democratic Party to settle the issues before that time.

We have an emergency meeting scheduled for this evening at 9pm.

I have attached a copy of the court documents.
